Why are Social Programs especially important as we age?

Including meaningful social activities in your day is important for everyone – but is especially important to help you keep your brain healthy for as long as possible. Dementia can be isolating. Loneliness, among other complicated emotions, can affect your mental well-being.

Finding opportunities to interact with the people around you will help you stay engaged. When we are connected with others, through programs such as these, the benefits are for our bodies, our minds and our relationships.
